

Maternal and Neonatal Health Safety Collaborative Local Learning System Launch

Agenda

Tuesday 3 July 2018

Time	Activity
9:30am	Registration and refreshments
10am	Welcome and Orientation to the Day Ann Remmers
10:15am	Introduction to the Maternal and Neonatal Health Safety Collaborative Tony Kelly
11am	Refreshments and networking
11:30am	Maternal and Neonatal Health Safety Collaborative: The journey so far Ann Remmers
12:00 noon	Lightning QI Tricia Woodhead
12:45pm	Lunch and networking LifeQI clinic: 1pm – 1:30pm, Erika Kittow
13:30pm	Systems thinking Tricia Woodhead
14:15pm	Designing our Learning System (inc refreshments) Nathalie Delaney
15:20pm	Summary and Next Steps Ann Remmers

Follow us on Twitter @weahsn or visit www.weahsn.net

Resource page – <http://www.weahsn.net/matneogi>

Save the date for our next event on: 10 October 2018

Location: Holiday Inn Filton, Filton Rd, Winterbourne, Bristol BS16 1QX

Speaker biographies

Ann Remmers

Patient Safety Programme Director West of England AHSN

@AnnRemmers

Ann Remmers is Patient Safety Programme Director at the West of England AHSN and Clinical Director of the South West Maternity Clinical Network. She has been involved in maternity and children's health services for most of her career. Until July 2014 Ann was Clinical Director of Women's and Children's Health and Director of Midwifery at North Bristol NHS Trust.

Ann's professional background is in nursing and midwifery. She has worked in both acute and community services and spent three years working in Australia. Ann led the development of the first regional maternity dashboard in England in 2014. Ann's priority is patient safety across all health organisations and she is committed to improving outcomes and experiences for patients and their families.

Tony Kelly

National Clinical Director, Maternal and Neonatal Health Safety Collaborative NHS Improvement

@tonykellyuk @matneoqi

Tony is the National Clinical Lead for the Maternal and Neonatal Health Safety Collaborative, whose aim is to improve the safety and outcomes of maternal and neonatal care, by reducing unwarranted variation and provide a high quality healthcare experience for all women, babies and families across maternity care settings in England.

Previously, Tony was the Director of the Patient Safety Collaborative in Kent, Surrey and Sussex AHSN for two years. Prior to this he worked in a regional capacity on quality improvement for a number of years. From 2010 to 2014 Tony was the Associate Medical Director for Quality and Innovation at Brighton and Sussex University Hospitals NHS Trust.

He has been working in the field of clinical effectiveness and quality improvement for over 15 years and specifically within safety and quality for the seven years. Tony is a clinician at heart and he has been a Consultant Obstetrician and Gynaecologist in Brighton since 2003.

Tricia Woodhead

Associate Clinical Director for Patient Safety, West of England AHSN

@triciaqif

Tricia has spent 24 years as a Consultant Radiologist in the NHS. During 12 of these years she was Medical Director and Director/ Quality and Patient Safety. She is a Health Foundation and IHI Quality Improvement Fellow and Improvement Advisor having been awarded the Fellowship in 2010.

She is currently Associate Clinical Director for the West of England Academic Health Science Network, Patient Safety Advisor to the Royal College of Radiologists and she teaches Leadership for Patient Safety as Associate Clinical Lecturer at Keele University Medical School.

She works across the South West, South of England and London on collaborative projects to improve reliability and patient safety in acute, community and mental health services.

Nathalie Delaney

Patient Safety Programme Manager, West of England AHSN

@njdelaney

Nathalie is an experienced operational manager and improvement facilitator with over ten years' experience in the NHS. She worked first in acute commissioning and service improvement before moving to an operational role in a specialist cancer centre in 2009 ensuring delivery of cancer performance targets as well as working to ensure high standards of care for patients receiving cancer treatment.

Nathalie joined the West of England AHSN in 2015. She has a passion for improving patient care and ensuring safe delivery of care. Outside of work she is a keen musician and enjoys playing the piano.